ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An gas directing/exhaust system and method are provided. The gas directing system has an gas directing mechanism. The gas directing mechanism has different embodiments. In some embodiments, the gas directing mechanism has a first pathway and a second pathway. In other embodiments, the gas directing mechanism has a second pathway and one or more first pathways located inside of the second pathway. In other embodiments, the gas directing mechanism has the first and second pathways and a third pathway inside of the second pathway.